Madison Police Department

On March 25, 2017, the Commission on Accreditation for Law Enforcement Agencies, Inc. (CALEA®) awarded the Madison Police Department their second Advanced Law Enforcement Accreditation. This award was bestowed upon the Madison Police Department at the spring CALEA Conference in Mobile, Alabama.

This award is the culmination of a process that was put in motion when Chief John "Jack" Drumm arrived at the Madison Police Department in January 2010. Since that time, the Department has revised its policy manual, adhered to the best practices in law enforcement and received Initial Accreditation in the spring of 2014. Since Initial Accreditation, the Department worked tirelessly to demonstrate compliance with CALEA Standards. In December 2016, the Department again hosted two national assessors who arrived at the Madison Police Department to inspect the facilities, meet with officers and staff, and review the 481 files necessary for CALEA Advanced Law Enforcement Accreditation.

Additionally, the Madison Emergency Communications Center also hosted a national assessor who reviewed an additional 106 Communications Standards for the CALEA Public Safety Communications Accreditation.

Following the On-Site Assessment, the Madison Police Department and Madison Emergency Communications Center were recommended for Accreditation, but faced one additional interview with members of the CALEA Commission. Chief Drumm. Captain Joseph Race and Communications Supervisor Edmund Brunt successfully responded to all questions asked and the Madison Police Department's Advanced Accreditation and the Madison Emergency Communications Center's Public Safety Communications Accreditation were granted. This distinction is the first of its kind in Connecticut and one on only 33 in the United States to hold this Law Enforcement and Communications dual Accreditation.

BIKE PARK BOCKLAND

Local Volunteers Seek to Make Rockland Bike Park a Reality

Rockland Preserve volunteers want you to vote for Madison in the "Meet Me at the Park" campaign in April. Your vote could help Madison receive $20,000 toward their plan to build Rockland Bike Park.

The volunteers who built Connecticut's top-rated singletrack mountain bike trails at Rockland Preserve are kicking off a campaign to build Rockland Bike Park. Their vision is to install a bicycle pump track and skills area, as well as a natural playground at the Rte 79 (Durham Road) parking lot.

Jason Engelhardt, project organizer, states, "This bike park will be a meeting place for young people from Madison and surrounding towns to socialize and build healthy habits by appreciating fresh air and exercise. I am a resident of North Madison with young children and I think it is time for a community destination they can appreciate. Madison Bike Park will be a unique cycling destination that will expand the cycling community at Rockland to include even the youngest riders, and it will be fun and appropriate for users of all ages."

The volunteer group is a partnership between New England Mountain Bike Association Central Connecticut Chapter (CCT NEMBA) and Madison Beach and Recreation. The partners have had a productive relationship at Rockland Preserve since 2012. The Singletracks of Rockland, built by these volunteers, have drawn positive attention to the 650 acre town property in North Madison and have revitalized stewardship of Rockland Preserve.

The group has a fundraising goal of $50,000 or materials that will offset the costs of the project. Volunteer Jon Petersen says, "The pump track has two major ingredients: dirt and skilled labor. We also have smaller needs, like equipment rental, fencing, and signage. $50,000 is a bargain for the added value to the Preserve and the community."

Volunteer Tim Burton, fundraising coordinator and North Madison family man, looks forward to meeting with partners and seeking grants in the near future. Tim says, "We are kicking off our fundraising in April, 2017. The first big push will be for a competitive grant called Meet Me at the Park, which will award $20,000 to the community that gets the most votes. You can help by visiting the site https://www.meetmeatthepark.org/ and vote for Madison. We will also be participating in the Great Give online giving event sponsored by The Community Foundation for Greater New Haven May 2-3."

Engelhardt says, "We plan to start building in 2017. The project will likely take place in stages, first the skills area, then the pump track, and last the natural playground. Right now, we have a website with our plans and have built a partnership with the town, we have applied for some promising grants, and we are optimistic that we are going to connect with people who want to help, by contributing funds, materials, expertise, and equipment."

Connect with us, or see more details, including plans, descriptions and videos that describe pump tracks, skills areas, and natural playgrounds at the website www.madisonct.org/RBP.

Madison Historical Society

Spring is a busy season at the Madison Historical Society (MHS). Our exhibition, Over There, Over Here: Madison in World War I reopened on April 1. A collaboration of the MHS and the Charlotte L. Evarts Memorial Archives, it tells the stories of the Madison men and women who served at home and on the front. Through its artifacts, photographs, letters, and music, it commemorates the centennial of the US involvement in the war. Visit our exhibition hall at Lee's Academy on the green and the displays at the Memorial Town Hall. Open every Saturday, April through November, 11 am – 4 pm.

The MHS is most proud to unveil its newly redesigned website at its annual meeting on May 1 at 7 pm at the Yankee Steam Works, a private transportation history museum located in Guilford. Vividly illustrated, the website, launched in time to celebrate the society's one hundredth birthday, provides useful information about the important people, places, and events that are part of the rich fabric of Madison's history. Yankee Steam Works is a private museum featuring nearly twenty meticulously restored vintage cars, including a 1918 Ford Model 75 electric car, a 1937 Supercharged Cord Phaeton, and a 1913 Franklin Model M Dirt Track Racer in mint condition. Also on view are an original Monarch Road continued on page 10

Roller, a steamboat, and a meticulously restored Bristol double-decker bus. This event is open to the public, but guests are asked to register in advance as seating is limited.

On June 10, the MHS participates in the state's annual Open House Day. This free event is organized by the Commission on Culture & Tourism to encourage visitors to discover the many interesting museums, historic homes, and cultural organizations throughout Connecticut. The Allis-Bushnell House will be open to the public from 11 am to 4 pm. We invite you to learn about five important days from Madison's past as you walk through the downstairs rooms of the house. Each room reflects a specific period - Colonial, Federal, Civil War, Victorian, and Modern Era. Docents will tell the important stories of Madison people who fought and died in the Revolutionary War, helped to establish the town, held abolitionist meetings, wrote letters to a concerned sister about a pending draft, and opened a tearoom in the early days of the suffragette movement. Light refreshments will be served.

Vista Promotes Autism Awareness, Unity Through Art

Members of Vista Life Innovations teamed up with more than a dozen students at Westbrook High School for an interactive art experience in celebration of World Autism Awareness Day on April 2 and Autism Awareness Month throughout April. Under the direction of Vista Arts Specialist Samantha Listorti, participants painted their own version of a blue lightbulb on individual canvases to illustrate Autism Speaks' international Light It Up Blue autism awareness campaign. The integrated activity included students in grades 10 through 12, fostering a sense of unity among Vista members and Westbrook students.

"It warms my heart to see the continued collaboration between Vista and Westbrook High School," said Lyn Connery, student assistance counselor at Westbrook High School. "When people come together and learn about each other, all the barriers come down."

With campuses in Madison, Westbrook and Guilford, Vista is a nationally accredited post-secondary program that has been supporting the personal success of individuals with disabilities for over 27 years. Vista believes in community integration through the arts and is proud to count Westbrook High School as a supportive community partner.

Spring Into Rosé

Spring is finally here and I am sure everyone will agree that it has been a long cold winter. As the days become longer and the weather warms up, the perfect wines to drink are Rosés. The rosé style of wine has become increasingly popular every year, and why not? Aside from being refreshing, rosés pair well with a vast array of foods and are extremely palatable to almost any wine drinker. Rosés are comprised of mostly red varietals but are occasionally blended with a small amount of white grapes. You might ask, where does the pink color come from? Well, the juice from all grapes is clear, the color of the wine depends on how long the skins stay in contact during the wine making process. The longer the skins stay in contact, the darker the color of the rosé. In my experience, the deeper rosés tend to have dark fruit flavors such as blackberry, cassis and plum, while the pale rosés taste of strawberry, cherry and watermelon. French rosés from Provence, for example, tend to be a pale salmon-like color and are light and refreshing in body, while Cotes-du-Rhone rosés are brighter pink and weightier in the mouth. Because of the long run of White Zinfandel in the United States, many people believe that all rosés are sweet. White Zinfandel is made in a different fashion than true rosés, it has lower alcohol and higher residual sugar. Most rosés are in fact drier than one would expect. This makes them easy to pair with many different foods, from appetizers to entrees and deserts. It is time to invite your friends over, uncover and strike up the barbeque grill, and crack open a refreshing bottle of rosé, it will surely please your entire crowd. Happy Spring!

A Beauty Blueprint for Every Age

We all want to look our best. It's the common thread that ties us together as women. It doesn't matter if you're 25 or 75, we all survey ourselves in the mirror and have something to say.

The best road to healthy, get noticed skin at any age is a proactive approach. One of the most important causes of aging skin is exposure to the sun. Your most valuable tool to combat aging is a separate sunscreen with broad spectrum UVA/UVB coverage.

In our twenties, we are confronted with stress that can sometimes show up on our faces. Antioxidants work well in this group since they fight free radicals caused by sun, pollution, alcohol and stress. Also, it is imperative to start wearing a separate sunscreen.

By the time we hit 30, even the baby faces among us will start to notice changes. Now is the time to invest in a good eye cream, as well as a night cream. You should have a twice a day routine at this point.

In our 40's and 50's, lines around the eyes, mouth and forehead deepen, under eye puffiness can worsen and hormonal changes can cause the skin to become drier and more sensitive. The final insult is sagginess due to more collagen and elastin breakdown. This is the age where non-surgical procedures can be a big help, relaxing wrinkles or replacing lost volume.

After 60 we are all noticing changes. Even those of us who were lucky enough to have only fine lines and wrinkles will notice them deepening. For most post-menopausal women, the hormone change has caused thinner, more fragile skin. Now is the time to consider office procedures such as ultrasound or laser treatments or facial surgery for even more dramatic results.

If you follow the blueprint, you can be beautiful at every age!

Climate Change

Climate change has been a topic of discussion lately. Is it real? Is human activity responsible? Most importantly, can we do something about it? If you don't think it is real I suggest a little homework to perhaps educate you about the facts of climate change. There are hundreds and hundreds of studies done by highly respected institutions that indicate climate change is real. NASA has detailed information on climate change which can be found by visiting https://climate.nasa.gov. We trusted NASA to put a man on the moon. Why would we not believe their evidence to suggest climate change is real? The next question becomes why. Are humans responsible for the changing climate? The planet has undergone colossal changes over its existence. Some argue that this is just another evolutionary phase or that it is a natural occurrence. Again I urge you to look at the overwhelming evidence that the unprecedented increase of greenhouse gases coincides with the Industrial Revolution. In one report, the Fifth Assessment Report, the IPCC, a group of 1,300 independent scientific experts from countries all over the world under the auspices of the United Nations, concluded there's a better than 95 percent probability that human-produced greenhouse gases such as carbon dioxide, methane and nitrous oxide have caused much of the observed increase in the Earth's temperatures over the past 50 years. No matter what the cause we can and must do something to address climate change. There are indeed steps we continued on page 18

can take to help reduce greenhouse gases and other contributing causes of climate change. The first step is awareness and then to educate ourselves about the facts. We must do all we can to help save the future of our children. If your child fell into a pool and could not swim wouldn't you jump in after him or her? This is a harsh comparison but honestly it is our children's future we are talking about. We have to at least try.

Anterior Hip Replacement Surgery Aids in Recovery

At Middlesex Hospital, a faster and easier recovery from hip replacement surgery is possible.

By approaching the hip from the anterior, an orthopedic surgeon can make an incision in the front of the leg instead of the back. This allows the surgeon to reach the hip by separating the muscles—not by cutting and reattaching them. The result: less trauma to the muscles and a better chance of a faster and easier recovery.

Anterior hip replacement surgery allows patients to bend their hip freely immediately after surgery, or as soon as they feel comfortable doing so. By comparison, traditional posterior hip replacement surgery often means limiting a patient's motion for six to eight weeks after surgery.

There are several other benefits to anterior hip replacement surgery. Patients will likely have a smaller incision and less scarring, and they'll also experience reduced pain and have a reduced risk of dislocation.

If you have arthritis, hip pain, limited mobility or stiffness, you may be a candidate for anterior hip replacement surgery. You should discuss what surgery option is right for you with your doctor.

Middlesex Hospital is consistently disease-specific care certified by The Joint Commission in hip and knee surgeries. It prepares patients for surgery by offering educational classes before they have a procedure. Nurse navigators are there to help patients throughout the process.

For more information about anterior hip replacement surgery at Middlesex Hospital, call 1-800-548-2394.

Diabetes and the Eye

Diabetes is a disease that affects your ability to produce or use insulin to effectively control the blood sugar (glucose) levels in your body. Too much glucose in the blood for an extended amount of time can damage many parts of your body, including your eyes. According to the CDC (Centers for Disease Control and Prevention) about 90% of diabetes related vision loss can be prevented with early detection. Yet a study performed by researchers at Wills Eye Hospital saw that 60% of people with diabetes skip their annual exam needed to preserve their vision. It is imperative that people with diabetes get an annual dilated eye exam because ocular complications due to diabetes may show no signs or symptoms.

When blood vessels in the eye's retina swell, leak, or close off, or if abnormal new blood vessels grow, it is called diabetic retinopathy. People who are at a higher risk of developing diabetic retinopathy are those who have diabetes or poor blood sugar control, women who are pregnant, and people with high blood pressure or high blood lipids.

Diabetes can also cause your vision to change even if you do not have retinopathy. If your blood sugar levels change very quickly, it can affect the shape of your eye's lens which causes blurry vision. Your vision usually goes back to normal after your blood sugar stabilizes.

According to the Academy of Ophthalmology, the top 5 steps to help prevent diabetic eye diseases are:

- Get a comprehensive dilated eye exam from your ophthalmologist at least once a year.
- 2. Control your blood sugar.
- 3. Maintain healthy blood pressure and cholesterol levels.
- 4. Quit smoking.
- 5. Exercise.
